

iVoice Technology, Inc. Announces its Anticipated Plans to Repay Balance of Convertible Debentures

iVoice Technology, Inc. Matawan, NJ--(BUSINESS WIRE)-May 19, 2008 (OTC Bulletin Board: IVOT), announced today that it anticipates to redeem the balance of the $186,000 in convertible debt held by Y.A., Yorkville Advisors (formerly known as Cornell Capital) investor prior to the end of October 2008, when pursuant to the terms of the convertible debenture, the debt becomes convertible into common stock at the option of the holder. The debt is not convertible into common stock until after October 31, 2008. The Company recently repaid approximately $691,000 in secured convertible debt to the institutional investor.

“We are quite excited by the launch of B Green Innovations, Inc. and the opportunity to apply its technology to solve large unmet environmental issues,” said iVoice Technology President and Chief Executive Officer Jerry Mahoney. “Our plan to redeem the outstanding convertible debentures will simplify our capital structure and eliminate the possibility of future dilution, and any overhang in on our stock.”

iVoice Technology, Inc. formed B Green Innovations, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary, to commercialize its “green” technology platforms. The new subsidiary will hold and develop the Company’s green technology. The first technology to be developed involves the use of recycle tires. Recently, iVoice Technology announced that it had filed a new patent application for a product it described as a “Recycled Tire Pod with Appliance Recess Guide.”
